Piney Branch Students Continue Quest for Greener Lunch Trays

By Susan Holliday

The kids did their homework. The 22 students in the Piney Branch Elementary School Young Activist Club researched their proposal for their school to abandon daily use of disposable polystyrene lunch trays in favor of a more environmentally friendly system. They investigated using compostable paperboard trays instead, but found they’d cost three to four times as much and still be wasteful. So the students looked into purchasing durable, reusable plastic trays and cutlery plus a tray washer, consulted experts, crunched the numbers, and raised the $10,000 to achieve their goal.

They took their idea to the Montgomery County Public Schools (MCPS) Facilities Management Department, which said the project would cost more than the activists’ estimate, and then to the Montgomery County Board of Education (BOE), testifying last July. When the board questioned the feasibility of the students’ idea, the club commissioned a feasibility study and sent it to MCPS Superintendent Jerry Weast, who responded last December: a cost analysis by MCPS found the project required $70,000, and Weast said no.

What an education in community activism! “They don’t understand why it can’t be done,” said Brenda Platt, one of the Young Activist Club volunteer co-leaders and a Piney Branch parent. But the kids decided, “We have to keep fighting, we’re activists,” added Platt.

Despite the ultimate denial, the students gathered support from the school PTA and Principal Bertram Generlette, the Takoma Park City Council, State Senator Jamie Raskin and Delegates Sheila Hixson, Tom Hucker and Heather Mizeur, and Montgomery County Councilmembers Roger Berliner, Marc Elrich, Valerie Ervin, George Leventhal, Nancy Navarro and Ducky Traishenberg.

The Young Activist Club of Piney Branch Elementary lobbied the County Council to get rid of polystyrene lunch trays at their school.

The final decision makers, though, were the BOE members and MCPS. So the Young Activists held a community forum March 23. MCPS representatives declined the invitation to attend. At the meeting the children explained the harmful effects of polystyrene use and LUNCH TRAYS continues on page 12

City Layoffs Proposed

City Considers Cuts, Tax Rate as Budget Process Begins

By Virginia Myers

City Manager Barbara Matthews has proposed a number of staff layoffs in her recently announced budget. City Council will be reviewing and discussing the proposal before it approves a final version in May. Meanwhile, Matthews notified ten employees that, due to declining revenues and rising expenses, they could be laid off or shifted from full-time to part-time positions at the end of the fiscal year, June 30. Of the ten, four are full-time positions to be eliminated, two are full-time going to part-time, and four are part-time to be eliminated. Some of the staff members in these positions may be placed in other vacant positions in the City.

The budget proposal also recommends no wage increases, neither for merit nor as part of the stepped wage increase system. In an email to employees March 31, Matthews expressed regret over these changes, but said she believes them to be “necessary” to keep the City financially stable. Flat wages, she added, will help prevent further layoffs.

Calling it “the tightest budget in years,” Matthews explained that revenue sources (like state and county funds) are down, and costs for pension and health insurance are up. Other budget changes were not available at press time, but will be presented at the April 5 City Council meeting and are available at www.takomaparkmd.gov.

Setting the Tax Rate

City Council must also consider whether or not to raise the property tax rate beyond the “constant yield tax rate.” City staff wants to be sure residents understand exactly what LAYOFFS continues on page 12

Spring brings more new shops

Bicycle, electric bike, CD exchange businesses join the community

By Virginia Myers

Three more new businesses have announced that they will be opening in the Old Town and Takoma Junction neighborhoods of Takoma Park; that makes a total of five new shops expected to open in the next six to eight weeks. Most recently, Takoma Bicycle has taken over at 7030 Carroll Avenue, selling new and used bicycles for adults and children; and CD/Game Exchange is buying, selling and trading new and used music, movies and video games at 7040 Carroll Avenue (at press time, both shops expected to open April 1). The Green Commuter announced plans to sell and service electric and conventional bicycles at 7320 Carroll Avenue at the Junction, starting mid-April.

Other openings include Capital City Cheesecake (aiming for a May 1 opening at 7071 Carroll Avenue), and Old Takoma Ace Hardware (hoping to open at the end of April, at 7001 Carroll Avenue).

In addition, Everyday Gourmet (6923 Laurel Avenue) will re-open after renovation, with a new concept that could include beer and wine, and Roscoe’s Neapolitan Pizzeria (7040 Carroll Avenue) will be putting café tables out on the sidewalk this month.

The Still Point, which offers acupuncture, massage, organic manicures, facials, and other health and spa services, is moving to a larger location at 1 Columbia Avenue in April.

NOTICE OF A PROPOSED REAL PROPERTY TAX INCREASE

The City Council of the City of Takoma Park, Maryland proposes to increase real property taxes.

1. For the tax year beginning July 1, 2010, the estimated real property assessable base will increase by 2.4 percent from $1,835,449,475 to $1,903,984,846.

2. If the City of Takoma Park maintains the current tax rate of $0.58 per $100 of assessment, real property taxes will increase by 2.4 percent resulting in $258,044 of new real property tax revenues.

3. In order to fully offset the effect of increasing assessments, the real property tax rate should be reduced to $0.5663, the constant yield tax rate.

4. The City is considering not reducing its real property tax rate enough to fully offset increasing assessments. The City proposes to adopt a real property tax of $0.58 per $100 of assessment. This tax rate is 2.4 percent higher than the constant yield rate and will generate $258,044 in additional property tax revenues.

A public hearing on the proposed real property tax rate increase will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, April 12, 2010, in the Azalea Room of the Takoma Park Community Center at 7500 Maple Avenue, Takoma Park, Maryland. The hearing is open to the public, and public testimony is encouraged. Persons with questions regarding this hearing may call Jessie Carpenter, City Clerk, at 301-891-7267 for further information.

Maple Avenue Makeover Unveiled

Basketball court, community garden and lighting planned

By Carman Lam

Last May and June, City staff held a series of workshops and “coffee and doughnuts” sessions to find out how residents would like to make Maple Avenue a better place for living, working and playing. Over the course of ten sessions spent brainstorming, planning and drawing with City staff and fellow residents, a list of “do’s and don’t’s” was generated. They ranged from a big “yes” to an exercise facility and a big “no” to dog parks. Spanish, Amharic and Russian translators present at these meetings helped assure input from our local non-native English speakers.

Staff took this wish list and explored the feasibility of the most desirable options based on cost, site availability and time constraints. The revised construction budget is $68,100, since staff reduced spending on public consultation and design components. In the end, an outdoor basketball court, a community garden and street lighting were identified as the most feasible options and were presented to Council for consideration.

The Options

Residents of all ages identified a gym facility as a top priority. Many adults are looking for exercise opportunities. Teenagers frequently complained that the Takoma Piney Branch basketball courts are closed after sundown. And there was a great deal of interest expressed in activities that would provide constructive outlets and involvement for young people.

If there was space at the Community Center to house some indoor exercise equipment, that would have been an attractive option. But there wasn’t. Nor could another suitable space be found. Staff then decided to explore outdoor recreational opportunities, and wound up considering a basketball half court.

The proposed location for the half court is the current recreation bus parking spot, just beside the Community Center near Grant Avenue. To accommodate a small basketball half court, the space will be redesigned with a new sidewalk, a fence and a landscaped buffer along Grant. If funding permits, lighting and benches may also be added to enhance the site’s potential as a hang out spot.

Many Maple Avenue residents, especially those living in apartments and condos, told planners they wanted a little green space. The story was the same among those who expressed a wish for young people. And there was a great deal of interest expressed in activities that would provide at least one of the functions of the community gym that did not get built along with the current Community Center due to funding constraints. It can also serve as an interstice when the Takoma Piney Branch facility is closed for renovation between 2010–2011. Councilmembers are already preparing an inaugural game amongst themselves when the court opens.

The community garden option also enjoys Council support. “The more planters, the better!” was Councilmember Fred Schultz’s response.

The Council’s overall recommendation is to prioritize the construction of the basketball court. In other words, to build as close to a full-size standard half court as financially feasible, within the physical boundaries presented by Grant Avenue. Remaining funds would then be used to purchase planter boxes for the community garden.

Given current funds, lighting the entire length of Maple from Philadelphia to Sligo Creek would not in any case be feasible, nor did this seem the highest priority, given recent lighting improvements. If a larger grant becomes available in the future, however, lighting improvements may well be revisited. Indeed, if current funding permits, Councilmember Terry Seamens has recommended purchasing one or two solar-powered lights to explore the use of green technology.

Coming Soon

Staff are working to complete the design and construction of Maple Avenue improvements by June 2010. Construction of the half court will likely take place in May while the community garden program kicks off in June. Funding is through a Community Development Block Grant, which prioritizes investment in and services for less affluent communities.

For more information on the Maple Avenue improvements, contact Carman Lam at 301-891-7219, or carmanl@takomagov.org.

Homeowners’ Property Tax Credit Applications Now Available

Are you eligible for a tax credit? Homeowners Property Tax credit applications are now available for the 2010 tax year. Although the deadline for filing is September 1, 2010, if you file before May 1, the credit will be applied directly to your tax bill.

The tax credit program is designed to help low or fixed income home owners, by limiting the amount they must pay in property taxes. To receive the tax credit, an application and supporting documentation must be sent to the Maryland Department of Assessments and Taxation each year.

The maximum property assessment eligible for the credit is $300,000, which means that even though your home may be assessed over this amount, it’s only the first $300,000 of its assessed value that will be counted for this credit. Here are the basic requirements for the program:

- Must own or have legal interest in the property
- Must be your principal residence
- Your net worth, not including the value of your home or qualified retirement savings/accounts must be less than $200,000
- Your gross household income cannot exceed $60,000

To obtain an application for the home owners’ tax credit programs, you can call the State of Maryland at 1-800-944-7403, access it on their website, www.dat.state.md.us/datweb/taxcredits.html or call Linda Walker at 301-891-7222.

The Commission on Landlord-Tenant Affairs (COLTA) issued an Opinion and Order on three illegal rent complaints for a rental property in Takoma Park. All three complaints were consolidated into one COLTA hearing. Linson, et al. v. Hillwood Manor Apartments Joint venture LLP, et al. COLTA Case Nos. 2009-19T, 20T & 21T

On March 9, COLTA issued a decision on the tenants’ complaints, that the landlord charged illegal rents of $740 for the first unit, $825 for the second unit, and $825 for the third unit when they moved into the rental property. Based upon testimony presented at the hearing, COLTA found that the rents charged by the landlord for these units exceeded the rents stated in its annual rent reports submitted to the City. Additionally, COLTA found that the landlord charged the complainants illegal rents and ordered that the landlord refund the tenants a total of $21,629 ($3,428 for the first unit, $5,439 for the second unit, and $12,762 for the third unit) which represented the rent overcharges. Finally, COLTA ordered that the tenants are authorized to withhold payment of their monthly rents if the landlord did not refund them within 16 days from the date of the order.

The 5K Race Is On

By Lucy Neher
Save Routes To School Coordinator

Once again, the Takoma Park Safe Routes to School program has joined forces with area schools to host the second annual, family-friendly 5K Challenge. Events include the 5K Run, 1-Mile Fun Run and Quarter Mile Youth Run (8 and under). This year features a new event – the 5K Walk – which begins ten minutes after the 5K run.

Finey Branch, Takoma Park and Rollin’s Park playgrounds are welcoming participants from a new school – East Silver Spring Elementary – in organizing the day and the ESS parents, teachers and students who will be running the Maple Avenue/Sligo Creek Parkway race course. School programs are well underway at all schools now to develop lifelong fitness habits and encourage walking and running activities leading up to the race. Race proceeds benefit health and safety programs at the participating schools.

Parent volunteers are currently recruiting area businesses to sponsor the event, and more volunteers are also needed to assist with registration, race events, refreshments and other organizing activities. Interested sponsors or volunteers can contact the race director for details, lucyn@takomagov.org or contact the race director for details, lucyn@takomagov.org.

Historic Structure Tax Credits Available

Have a historic home or building in Montgomery County? Owners of properties listed in the Montgomery County Master Plan for Historic Preservation have until April 15 to apply for tax credits for renovation and maintenance expenses incurred in 2009. Extensive rehabilitation projects as well as routine maintenance projects, such as painting, roof repairs or replacing gutters and downspouts, may qualify for the tax credit, as long as repairs exceed $1,000. The tax credit is equal to 10 percent of documented expenses and is applied toward county property taxes.

The Montgomery County Council created the historic preservation tax credit program in 1984. The Historic Preservation Commission reviews tax credit applications, certifies eligibility of expenses and forwards recommendations to the County Department of Finance for approval. The program is available to county homeowners except for residents of incorporated Rockville, Gaithersburg, Washington Grove and Laytonsville, who may be eligible through their city historic preservation programs. For a list of eligible activities, criteria and to download an application form, visit the historic preservation tax credit website at http://www.montgomeryplanning.org/historic/instructions/taxcredit.shtml or contact county historic preservation staff at 301-563-3400.

CD/Game Exchange

Cigameexchange.net

Back in 1974, when the Record Exchange was tucked away in the back of a book store, its trade was in vinyl records. Now known as CD/Game Exchange, the business is back to record albums – in addition to CDs, DVDs and video games.

The Takoma Park shop, opening in the old American Craft space, will buy and sell new and used music, movies and video games of all sorts. Customers can bring in their old CDs, DVDs, games and other media to get store credit or cash to buy new – or different – selections. Owner Sam Lock hopes to devote the second floor to vinyl, with a turntable for customers to try out music before they buy.

CD/Game Exchange has been in the area for 36 years, at one time with five locations. Now there are two: a Silver Spring store on Georgia Avenue, and the Takoma Park shop, which replaces one in College Park. Lock says he moved the College Park store because the neighborhood was shifting to more condos and retail; also, he explains, selling used electronics in Prince George’s County now requires full consumer checks on every item. Besides, Lock has long admired Takoma Park for its active community and progressive politics. His environmental ethic of reuse and recycle should fit right in.

The Green Commuter

Thegreencommuter.net

Jo Reyes is the kind of guy who loves to tell you about his electric bike – a self-described gearhead, he’s sure he’ll be answering plenty of questions once he opens his new shop, The Green Commuter.

An auto mechanic for 25 years, Reyes worked on race cars for Ferrari of Washington, in Sterling, Va. He owned a Matco Tools franchise for another seven years, was a bicycle courier for Ferrari of Washington, D.C. “I’ve always had a passion for electric vehicles,” he says. The Green Commuter will be his first shop.

But it won’t be all electric. Reyes will also sell pedal bikes and help convert conventional bikes to electric. And he’ll rent, allowing customers to try electric bikes before purchase.

Locals might see Reyes pedaling his mountain bike instead of driving his car. “I own an A2B,” he says. “Or he might be riding the A2B, a popular electric model. He says the electric options are great for baby boomers who don’t want to tackle the hills anymore, and they’re economical.

Third Thursday Poetry Reading

Please join us on Thursday, April 29 to hear the work of poets Bonnie Naradzay, Mary Beth Hatem and Anne Grownower. The reading begins at 7:30 p.m. and will be held in Gallery 3 on the third floor of the Takoma Park Community Center. A reception follows the reading.

“Old to New”

“I like to work intuitively, letting the piece grow instead of drawing it out on paper. I want to be surprised at the end.” — Randall Cleaver

“Old to New,” an exhibit of found object clocks and lamps by Takoma Park artist, Randall Cleaver, will be on display in the Atrium Gallery from March 31 through April 30. Please join us at the opening reception on Friday, April 2, 6 to 8 p.m. Music will be provided by the Bruce Khromer Duo.

The Atrium Gallery, located on the main level of the Takoma Park Community Center, 7500 Maple Avenue, is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 10 p.m., Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Sundays from 2 to 6 p.m.

Public Art Possibilities

We’d like to know what you think. The Arts and Humanities Commission recently issued a call for entries for three public art projects – sculpture in the Long Branch commercial area, art panels for each of the City gateway signs, and traffic circle art. We’ve narrowed down the choices and would like to hear what you think about the concept plans submitted by the finalists. Proposals will be on display in the Takoma Park Community Center during the week of April 19. Swing by and take a look!

The Art of Coffee for a Cause

Each Monday through the end of May, Mayorga Coffee locations, including the new shop at 314 Carroll Avenue in Takoma, D.C., will feature the Arts and Humanities Blend as the Coffee of the Day. When customers buy a bag of the blend, Mayorga will give 15 percent of the proceeds to the Arts and Humanities Council of Montgomery County, a non-profit organization that provides workshops, classes and other services to county arts and humanities groups. The shop is open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. on weekends.

Exhibitions Director Needed

The Arts and Humanities Commission is seeking an Exhibitions Director to coordinate the Takoma Park Community Center exhibitions program. The Director serves as the key point of contact for program, solicits and reviews proposals, assists with logistics and curates one show. The Director serves from March 1, 2010 through June 30, 2011. This is not a paid position, but involves an honorarium of $2,000. Deadline for application is 4 p.m. April 30. Sampler Class: Beginners Guide to Decorative Stitches
Ages 18 and older
A sampler is a piece of embroidery produced as a demonstration or test of skill in needlework. When a woman saw a new stitching pattern, she would sew a small sample of it onto a piece of cloth – her “sampler.” The patterns were used as a reference and the woman would collect stitches and patterns throughout her lifetime. An art form since the 15th century, historical samples are displayed in museums worldwide and sell for thousands of dollars. Students will learn the history of samplers while creating their own sampler of decorative stitches they can use for future sewing projects. Eight weeks. Instructor Karen Krueger. Maximum eight, minimum four.

Graphic Novels Lead the Way in Geisel Awards

By Karen MacPherson

Learning to read is serious business. But that doesn’t mean it can’t be done in a fun way.

This year, for the first time, a graphic novel – a.k.a. comic book – won the Theodore Geisel Award for the best book for beginning readers. The award, presented annually by the American Library Association, is named for the man better known as Dr. Seuss.

Because Dr. Seuss was always pushing the boundaries of what was possible for beginning readers, it seems fitting that this year’s winner of the Geisel Award is “Benny and Penny in the Big No-No,” a graphic novel written and illustrated by Geoffrey Hayes.

In “Little Mouse Gets Ready,” written and illustrated by Jeff Smith, creator of the classic “Bone” graphic novel series, won a Geisel Honor.

Here’s a closer look at these books and the other 2010 Geisel Honor books:

Benny and Penny

Mouse siblings Benny and Penny sneak into the yard of their neighbor, a hedgehog named Melina, because they suspect she has stolen their piel. Inevitably, a spat ensues with Melina. Later, it turns out that the pail was in Benny and Penny’s yard all the time and so Benny and Penny have to go back and apologize to Melina.

In “Benny and Penny and the Big No-No” (ages 4-7), author/illustrator Geoffrey Hayes does a marvelous job of highlighting the kind of incidents that seem small to adults but loom so large to children. Hayes’ emotion-packed story is complemented by his expressive watercolor illustrations. The charm of Hayes’ watercolors, particularly in the way he details the work of Benny and Penny, is reminiscent of the books of Beatrice Potter.

Little Mouse

Little Mouse is so excited about getting to visit the barn. But first he thinks he needs to get dressed – not an easy task for a young mouse. In “Little Mouse Gets Ready” (ages 4-7), author/illustrator Jeff Smith tells a story that will be familiar to many young readers. But they won’t expect the hilarious ending when, after all the work of getting dressed, Little Mouse discovers from his mother that mice aren’t supposed to wear clothes after all.

Smith’s story, complemented with simple, colorful illustrations, is infused with humor that will tickle the fancy of young children, like the moment when Little Mouse puts on his underpants and tells his readers to remember to “get your tail in the tail hole”.

In addition to “Little Mouse Gets Ready,” three other 2010 Geisel Honor books – all part of established series — were chosen:

Fly Guy

“I Spy Fly Guy,” written and illustrated by Tedd Arnold. In this latest adventure of the hilarious “Fly Guy” series, Fly Guy, a mosquito, and his human friend Buzz are playing hide-and-seek when disaster seems to strike. Fortunately, Fly Guy can take care of himself and reappears just when Buzz thinks all is lost. Arnold’s simple but action-filled story will send young readers’ hearts racing, and they’ll love Arnold’s big-eyed creatures, as well as the flashy cover that’s become a “Fly Guy” trademark.

Mouse and Moles

“Mouse and Mole: Fine Feathered Friends,” written and illustrated by Wong Herbert Yee. Mouse and Moles are excited about trying to do some bird-watching. But it isn’t as easy as it looks, and the friends have to work together to figure out a way to accomplish their goal. Young readers will enjoy Yee’s gentle, realistic story, as well as his watercolor illustrations.

Pearl and Wagner

“Pearl and Wagner: One Funny Day,” written by Kate McMullan and illustrated by R.W. Alley. Wagner’s having a difficult April Fool’s Day. Everyone is playing tricks on him, until he visits the school nurse and finds a way to create his own April Fool’s diversion.

McMullan’s story will have young readers rooting for Wagner, while Alley’s illustrations emphasize the book’s good humor.

Takoma Park Remembers Ernie Weisman

By Susan Gilbert and Ron Schecter

Takoma Park lost a special member of the community when Ernest Weisman passed away on February 3, 2010 at the age of 53. Weisman was a lifelong resident of Takoma Park. His parents, David and Mel- rey Weisman, are well known members of the community; David served on the City Council from 1978 to 1982.

Weisman graduated from Blair High School in 1974, after which he trained as a steamfitter. Weisman worked, often with his father, on many of the largest construction projects in the Washington, D.C. area. He was a dedicated and loving husband to Mary Anne and father to Jacob, Larry and Clara.

Weisman contributed to the Takoma Park community in countless ways. He was a long-time member of the Independence Day Committee, which facilitates the Fourth of July Parade and fireworks display. Weisman served as the Committee’s president for several years, and he was hard at work every Fourth of July literally getting the show on the road. Wearing his July 4th firecracker t-shirt and ubiquitous red suspenders, Weisman was like a proud mother hen when he saw the delight in everyone’s faces along the parade route.

In addition to his charm and wit, Weisman was known for his unflagging willingness to help his neighbors and friends. Weisman truly touched many, many people’s lives by his kindness, which knew no bounds, and by his never-ending positive view on life, even as his own was fading. If there was a prob- lem, Weisman would find the solution, and he’d fix it. There’s hardly a furnace, a water heater, a leaky faucet, or a clogged drain in Takoma Park that hasn’t benefited from Weisman’s touch. Weisman and the incredible kindness that was his alone came to the rescue of many.

Or, perhaps a neighbor has a scheme, something fun, but can’t quite pull it off — Weisman would make it happen. Like the Valley View Avenue Bicentennial Birthday Celebration (four neighbors turning 50 in the same year), when friends and family wanted to make something of a spectacle of the event. It was Weisman who thought of parading the birthday celebrants around Takoma Park in the back of a decorated pick-up truck, and it was Weisman who procured and drove the truck.

Weisman was also instrumental in securing Block 69, the controversial portion of Takoma Park that was almost bulldozed during construction of Montgomery Community College in the 1970s. Weisman was one of the individuals who tracked the bulldozers to save community homes.

In a town known for its characters, Weisman ranked high among them. He was unique and generous. Simply stated, Ernie Weisman was everyone’s friend.
New Books for Gardeners Hit the Shelves

hanks to the generosity of the Takoma Horticultural Club, the Library has added some distinctive new books to its gardening collection.

“Mid-Atlantic Home Landscaping,” (2006 - revised edition) by Roger Holmes and Rita Buchanan (2006) includes a “portfolio of designs for gardens with different themes in a variety of spaces. Also shows how to make paths and walkways, fences, arbors, trellises, ponds and retaining walls, along with problem solving tips and plant profiles.

“Native Trees for North American Landscapes: From the Atlantic to the Rockies,” by Guy Stemberg (2004). This detailed compendium received the Natio nal Arbor Day Foundation Award. Includes tree profiles of more than 600 species and varieties, and more than 500 cultivars – each describing flowers and fruits, native and adaptive range, culture, problems and best seasonal features.

“Once Upon a Tale,” by Elizabeth Rees and Rosanne Singer. In the workshops, the students chose a fairy tale and then worked on various persona poems and other types of poems related to the fairy tale. The poems then will be gathered into a one-of-a-kind performance piece. The April 14 program is perfect for children ages 5 and up; registration is encouraged. Thanks to the Friends of the Takoma Park Maryland Library for sponsoring the entire “Once Upon a Tale” program.

Our French Circle Time, formally called as “Petites Chansons” (“Little Songs”), now is offered twice a month, thanks to the generosity of the Friends of the Ta koma Park Maryland Library. Led by Madame Marie Mackler, the program takes place on the second and fourth Saturday of each month at 10:30 a.m. No registration is necessary, and knowledge of French isn’t required. Just bring your baby, toddler or preschooler, and prepare to have fun singing songs and rhymes in French.

Parents with little ones ages 1-3 are invited to our “Stories in Action” program with storyteller Arianna Ross on Saturday, April 17 at 10:30 a.m. Ross will begin the program by telling stories suitable for the youngest listeners. She’ll follow her storytelling session with a workshop during which parents will work with their children as they learn storytelling techniques. The entire program lasts about an hour; families can come for the whole thing, or just the initial storytelling session. Registration is required; to register, please go to: www.takomapark.info/library/registration.html or call us at 301-891-7259. The program is part of a four-part workshop funded by the Montgomery County Arts and Humanities Council as well as the Friends of the Takoma Park Maryland Library.

Library Director Ellen Robbins shows a new edition of 1895, enhanced by 125 color illustrations.

Langley Park Gang Leader Sentenced to Life in Prison

On March 25 U.S. District Judge Deborah Chasanow sentenced Rober-to Antonio Argueta, aka “Alex Antonio Cruz,” aka “Buda,” age 29, to life in prison, plus an additional 35 years, for ordering the murder of Nancy Diaz and the attempted murder of another juvenile girl. A 12-person federal jury voted to impose a sentence of life in prison without parole on Argueta, who lived in Hinsdale.

On March 4, the same jury found Argue-ta guilty of conspiracy to commit murder in aid of racketeering. As MS-13, conspiracy to participate in racketeering, murder in aid of racketeering, and murder resulting from the use of a gun in a violent crime, two counts of assault with a dangerous weapon in aid of racketeering and two counts of using a gun during a violent crime.

According to testimony presented at the eight-week trial, Argueta was a leader of the Langley Park Salvatruchos (LPS) clique of La Mara Salvatrucha, also known as MS-13, a gang composed primarily of immigrants or descendants of immigrants from El Salvador, with members operating throughout Prince George’s County and Montgomery County, and elsewhere inside and outside the U.S.

Witnesses testified at trial that Argueta and other MS-13 gang members stabbed a rival gang member with broken bottles and knives, outside a nightclub in Langley Park, Maryland on September 17, 2004. In October 2004, Ar-gueta led a gang meeting in Prince George’s County, in which he and other gang mem-bers discussed plans to kill Nancy Diaz.

The jury found, based on the evidence presented at trial and during the penalty phase, that Argueta ordered the murder of Diaz. On October 25, 2004, two other MS-13 members drove Diaz and another juvenile female to the George Washington Cemetery in Adelphi, Maryland. According to testimony, another MS-13 member shot and killed Nancy Diaz, and shot the other girl in the face and stabbed her twice in the chest to attempt to make sure she was dead. The victim survived, and she later identified her assailants. Israel Ernesto Palacios, also known as Homie, age 32, of Silver Spring, was sen-tenced to life in prison for his role in the October 25 murder and attempted murder. James Guillen, also known as Toro, age 23, of Hyattsville, who drove the MS-13 mem-bers and victims to the cemetery, pleaded guilty to racketeering conspiracy after a jury was selected for his federal trial, and was sentenced to 262 months in prison. One of the murderers of Nancy Diaz, Jeffrey Villatoro, was prosecuted in the Circuit Court of Prince George’s County and received a life sentence. Another of the murderers, Jesus Canales, age 25, of Silver Spring, pled guilty in federal court to RICO conspiracy, including the murder of Nancy Diaz. He has not yet been sentenced.

To date, the United States Attorney’s Of-fice, District of Maryland, has charged 51 MS-13 members with various federal of-fenses; 25 members have been convicted at trial or pled guilty to RICO charges and have pleaded guilty to other charges, primarily immigration or gun violations. Four defendants have been sentenced to life in prison. One remaining defendant faces a capital trial beginning in June, 2010.

Fire Safety Tips in the Kitchen

Watch what you put on the stove. An electrical coil reaches a temperature of 800 degrees. A gas flame goes over 1,000 degrees. Your dish towel or pot holder can catch fire at 400 degrees. So can your bathrobe, apron or other loose clothing!

You should never put anything on the stove you don’t want to heat. Never put a heat cooking oil and leave the room. Clean exhaust hood and duct over stove regularly. Wipe up splashed grease on the surface of the stove is cool.

Watch young children when in the kitchen, keep all pot handles on the stove pointing to the back. Use back burners whenever possible. Never pour water on a grease fire, it scatters the flame. Turn off stove and cover pan or close oven door. Remember, unattended cooking is still the number one cause of home fires.

Finally, don’t forget to have a working smoke alarm on all levels of your home, es-pecially outside of each bedroom. Smoke is responsible for three out of four fire deaths.

Check the alarms monthly and change the batteries twice a year.

Baby Sitters Graduates

On March 15, the following girls and boys completed the popular training course con-ducted by the Takoma Park VFD: Brynne Merkley, Jessica Miller, Alana Richards, Elyse Salpekar, Chris Young, Desman Su-mang, Sienna Long, Larabella Gonzalez-Sol, Zoe Rothberg, Gabriela Sarri-Tobar, Susana Perez, Emma Roberts-Vaurio, Al-lison Mazur, Nina Rollins and Malachi Pauls. Assisting Jim Jarboe in course in-struction were Sandy Egan and Cpl. Jerome Erwin, Takoma Park Police Department.

Takoma Park VFD welcomes new mem-bers! If you have the time and commitment, we’ll supply the rest. Stop by the station and pickup an application or contact Mike Livingston at the fire department 240-773- 8954. It will be an experience you’ll never forget.

Sligo Creek Rape Suspect Arrested

A suspect has been arrested and is in jail awaiting trial for the sex-ual assault that occurred along Sligo Creek in Takoma Park last No-vember 19.

Luis Rivera, 29, is being held with-out bail at the Prince George’s County Detention Center after being arrested by Prince George’s County police for a separate assault that occurred earlier. The first incident also took place at 9:30 a.m. Nov. 13 near Sligo Creek, in Chillum, about two and a half miles south of the Takoma Park assault.

Takoma Park Police received a sec-ond arrest on Rivera for the incident that took place in the City. Rivera was charged with first degree rape, first de-gree assault and other charges.

Takoma Park Police were involved in the case after a woman jogger was sexually asaulted on the Sligo Creek Park trail be-tween 5 and 5:15 p.m. Nov. 19. Accord-ing to police, Rivera grabbed the victim as she was jogging and forced her into a wooded area off the trail, where he sexually assaulted her. The assault oc-curred between Maple Avenue and the Carroll Avenue bridge.

Takoma Park Police Chief Ronald A. Ricucci says the victim flagged down a police cruiser at Maple Avenue and Sli-go Creek Parkway, and officers began a K-9 search with Maryland-National Capital Park Police officers. They found the spot where the assault occurred, and Officer Charles Holtzel spotted an in-dividual along New Hampshire Avenue who matched the limited description that had been given: he was Hispanic, smelled of alcohol, was disheveled, and had muddy shoes and jeans.

The victim was brought to the sus-pect for I.D., but she could not give a positive identification. The suspect agreed to give a DNA sample and po-lice took multiple photographs, which were later used in the first arrest. The victim in the Prince George’s County incident picked out the suspect from a photo array “with no hesitation,” says Ricucci.

After expediting examination of DNA evidence at the Montgomery County Crime Lab, police matched the DNA found on the Takoma Park victim and the suspect’s DNA, and they were able to issue an arrest warrant for the second incident.

Rivera faces rape charges in both Montgomery and Prince George’s County. Maximum sentence for these charges is life in prison without parole.

Chief Ricucci notes that cross-ju-dicial relationships, especially with Maryland-National Capital Park Police, served to expedite the arrest, and praised the City’s dispatchers, de-tectives in the Criminal Investigations Division (CID), Squad 2 patrol officers and K-9 unit for their determination in following through on this case.

Firehouse REPORT

By Jsi Jaron:

On February 26, 39 new volunteers, repre-senting nine volunteer corporations from throughout the county, attended their VBOC class graduation. It was held at the Public Safety Training Academy, with family, friends, staff and several fire chiefs also attending. Each graduate received a cer-tificate and uniform ribbon for successfully completing the 10-week VBOC (Volunteer Basic Orientation Course). Congratulations to all, for a job well done.

the fiscal and environmental advantages of tray-washing. They noted that, at $5.03 per tray, Piney Branch throws away approximately $5,000 of foam trays per year. After they sang “Sing Me Goodnight” to the tune of “Irene Goodnight,” the discussion by grown-ups created the evening’s fireworks. Many of the officials’ comments were optimistic. Takoma Park Mayor Bruce Williams reiterated the City Council’s full backing. County Councilmember Valerie Ervin read parts of the letter signed by the six councilmembers, which stated, “The majority of the county council believes that Montgomery County Public Schools should allow this pilot to proceed so we can determine if using reusable trays and utensils can reduce our carbon footprint.”

But County Councilmember George Leventhal, while voicing support for the project, injected some sobering facts. “We’re facing an enormous budget crisis right now,” he said. “We’re going to be adding one student per class in every class throughout the school system. We’re going to be laying off teachers, sadly. We’re not going to be able to provide any cost-of-living wage increases for school system employees this year. That’s what’s foremost in people’s minds.”

An Opposing Point of View
BOE Vice President Christopher Barclay took the microphone and acknowledged that, while the work by the Young Activists has “put good pressure on the school system to really look at the issue of polystyrene trays,” he had to play the role of “bad guy.”

Citing the “very significant difference” between the cost estimates of the two parties, Barclay said that installing the tray washer presents “a real financial risk for the school system.”

“We’re facing about $137.7 million in cuts at MCPS,” said Barclay. “We know there’s a lot of work we need to be doing on becoming better stewards for our environment, but I have to say that this is not one that is high on the list in terms of priority.”

Polystyrene’s Health and Environmental Impacts

The Young Activist Club website (www.youngactivistclub.org) cites 24 municipalities, including San Francisco and Seattle, that have banned the use of polystyrene in all food ware city or countywide, not just in schools. Most of the municipalities’ web links name litter reduction and environmental impacts as the main reasons for the bans. An Environmental Protection Agency web page documents negative neurological impacts from airborne styrene, used to create polystyrene, though it states that the evidence of styrene’s connection to cancer “is inconclusive due to confounding factors.” Nonetheless, the City and County of San Francisco website states, “Polystyrene foam food service ware ends up in landfills, waterways or the ocean. It breaks down into smaller and smaller pieces, which are often mistaken for food and ingested by marine animals, birds, and fish. Medical evidence also suggests that chemicals in polystyrene foam are carcinogenic and may leach into food or drink.” Montgomery County incinerates the polystyrene foam lunch trays, according to the Young Activists.

The MCPS food services department “is running a $2 million deficit right now,” he added. It has to pay for itself. Paying for food services “determines the cost of lunch for our students…we can’t really afford to raise the prices on lunch so we have to come up with some alternative to get rid of the trays…is how we find a way but not necessarily with a dishwasher in the school.”

Audience member Gordon Clark asked Barclay at what point does the BOE do the “double-check” the costs projected by Dr. Weast for the students’ initiative. “No one seems to contradict the numbers even though they seem blatantly erroneous to many of us,” he said.

Barclay granted that the MCPS costs seem “a little inflated.” But, he added, “In terms of double-checking [the MCPS numbers], honestly right now, I can’t tell you that this is where we’re going to spend our time. . .This is not one that I’m going to go out there and run screaming and tell Dr. Weast, You’ve got to go back, you’ve got to double-check those numbers,” he said.

Asked later about the actual risk to MCPS if the Pinney Branch PTA actually assumes the full financial burden of the project as the club’s co-leaders have requested, Barclay responded, “How do you guarantee that? That is a risk. You have a memorandum of understanding and that cost goes beyond what has been collected by the PTA… the school system has to sue a PTA [for non-payment]? Why would you want to be in that position? How do we handle that? It’s a real issue that has to be dealt with.”

When contacted after the forum for comment, BOE Member Phil Kaufman, who attended the meeting but didn’t speak publicly, shared many of Barclay’s reservations about the financial obligations. He questioned the $70,000 figure, but wondered whether Pinney Branch figures were accurate as well.

this means, and that they have an opportunity to comment on the issue.

As the name implies, the constant yield tax rate is the property tax rate that would yield the same amount of revenue received in the prior year from “real property taxes (actual property tax dollars paid).” If the “real property assessable base” (the actual value of the property) increases, this would trigger a decrease in the constant yield tax rate in order for actual property tax revenues to remain unchanged.

For Fiscal Year 2011, which begins on July 1, 2010, the City’s net real property assessable base is projected to increase by 2.4 percent. Because of the growth in the assessable base, the real property tax rate would have to be lowered to keep the revenue at the same level as received in FY 2010. The constant yield tax rate for FY 2011 would be $0.5633 compared to the FY 2010 real property tax rate of $0.58 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The City Manager’s proposed budget assumes a continuation of the FY 2010 real property tax rate of $0.58. Because this rate exceeds the constant yield tax rate of $0.5663, a public hearing is required by law. The hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, April 12, in the Azalea Room of the Community Center (see page 2 hearing notice for details). For further explanation of the constant yield tax rate, residents can contact Finance Director Yovonda D. Brooks at 301-891-7210 or at yovondab@takomavog.org.
