FY17 budget process gets under way

A lot has changed since a year ago when newly appointed City Manager Suzanne Ludlow proposed a budget with a tax rate increase to help fund the second year of a phased-in salary increase for City employees.

Seven months later Kate Stewart was elected Mayor and Peter Kovar and Rizzy Qureshi joined the Council. The new Council continued the previous Council's interest in economic development and environmental sustainability and added affordable housing, youth issues and improved police/community relations to the priorities the City government would address.

In keeping with these priorities, two key elements of the City Manager's proposed FY17 budget are highlighted below.

No change in tax rate

This year, an eight percent increase in the assessable property base will yield just enough revenue to offset the final year of the phased-in increases in employee salaries, bringing them up to the market rates

Public hearing on proposed plastic bag ban

The main objective of the proposed Takoma Park Code amendment banning plastic bags is to decrease litter. The City Council will hold a public hearing on April 13 at 7:00 p.m. (see page 3) to receive public comments on the proposed plastic bag ban. The first reading of the ordinance is scheduled for April 27.

"Plastic bags end up being a large portion of litter that we see in the community," said Daryl Braithwaite, public works director for Takoma Park. "We want to reduce the amount of bags available and get people thinking about what else they can use to carry things."

Proposed by Councilmember Jarrett Smith (Ward 5), the amendment would restrict businesses from offering disposable plastic shopping bags to customers with some exceptions, including bulk food and hardware, frozen foods, prescription drugs, flowers, potted plants, bakery goods, newspapers and dry cleaning. "The idea is to address the litter and educate people about importance of reducing the amount of plastic bags in circulation," Braithwaite reiterated.

The Council heard testimony from Julie Lawson, director of Trash Free Maryland, to that effect on Feb. 24 when it discussed the draft ordinance. According to Lawson, in terms of their environmental impact, plastic bags are "the most persistent visual blight and linger as a toxic contaminant to waterways and the aquatic food web."

Moreover, the Takoma Park Committee on the Environment (COE) has endorsed the ban on disposable single-use carryout bags: "The COE notes that besides the environmental benefits of a single-use bag ban, plastic bag recycling is not possible at this time through the City of Takoma Park, and litter is a concern in several neighborhoods."

In addition, the COE supports including the farmers market in the ban with an implementation date that allows time for

TAKOMA PARK NOTICE OF A PROPOSED REAL PROPERTY TAX INCREASE

The City Council of the City of Takoma Park proposes to increase real property taxes.

1. For the tax year beginning July 1, 2016, the estimated real property assessable base will increase by 6.0%, from $1,980,734,983 to $2,099,990,347.
2. If the City of Takoma Park maintains the current tax rate of $0.585 per $100 of assessment, real property tax revenues will increase by 6.0% resulting in $697,644 of new real property tax revenues.

The City of Takoma Park proposes to adopt a real property tax rate of $0.585 per $100 of assessment. This tax rate is 6.0% higher than the constant yield tax rate and will generate $697,644 in additional property tax revenues.

BUILDING COMMUNITY

Keeping it groovy

Check any parking lot around town, and many of the cars have one thing in common. The ubiquitous oval bumper magnet, TKPK, “Keep Our City Clean, Green and Groovy,” can be found on any make, model or year of car and has even been spotted as far away as Denver, Colorado. Alone on the tailgate or wedged in between other messages of all kinds, our groovy anti-litter branding says something about Takoma Park.

With all these bumpers advertising our clean and green city, we shouldn't have a litter problem, but we do. Residents sporting the anti-litter message are making a statement that we are all in this together. And that is what the Anti-litter Initiative is all about: keeping our City clean together. We all have a responsibility not only to pick up litter when we see it, but to not throw it down in the first place. The Anti-litter Initiative is built on the idea that the residents and City government will work together to keep our city clean, green and groovy. And here's how.

Seasonal Litter Clean-ups

April is Anti-Litter Month. This is the best and easiest time to find a way to join the effort to rid Takoma Park of litter. School groups from elementary all the way through the university level have clean ups scheduled.

The Takoma Langley Crossroads Association has regular clean ups advertised on their website: takomalangley.org.

Main Street Takoma invites residents to come out on Saturday, April 16, www.mainstreettakoma.org/event/spring-community-clean-up-day.

The Alice Ferguson Foundation hosts the Potomac River Watershed Clean Up with sites all over the region, to volunteer visit: fergusonfoundation.org/trash-free-potomac-watershed-initiative/potomac-river-watershed-cleanup/volunteers.

Many residents make Sweep the Creek a tradition and on April 23-24, you can too: www.fosc.org/sweepthecreek.htm.

The Anti-litter Initiative owes a special thank you to the hundreds of students from Takoma Academy and Washington Adventist University who will participate in clean ups all around the City on April 6 and April 15. When you see these students and others in the community who are spending their time picking up litter to make our City Clean, Green and Groovy, please say, “Thank you!”

Adopt-a-Spot

Adopt-a-Spot allows individuals or groups to adopt areas located within Takoma Park for regularly scheduled litter pick-ups. The City recognizes the individual or group with a sign bearing the group's name at the spot. The City will also provide cleaning equipment, such as trash bags and gloves.

Examples of eligible locations include parks, landmarks, schools, vacant lots, walkways or trails, campuses, public grounds, or any sites prone to litter. Many groups are already committed to keeping a spot litter free. Sister Eden, Ace Hardware and the Young Activists Club were the first to agree to regular monthly clean ups. The Green Elf Takoma Boy Scout and Girl Scout Troops will join them this Spring. Download the application from the City website: takomaparkmd.gov/initiatives/anti-littering.

Sick of Signs

During Sick of Signs Week in September, the City urges residents to put “Street Spam” back in the can by tearing down illegally posted signs in the public right-of-way. Don't wait for September, go ahead and take down illegal signs anytime.

“Street Spam” can be signs that offer to buy your house, advertise summer camps, or ask for your scrap gold. Throughout the week, residents collect signs from bus shelters, utility poles, and transformer boxes, then bring them to a sign tally at the Community Center. The Housing and Community Development department awards prizes and provides refreshments at the sign tally. Sick of Signs Week involves the community in eliminating the paper trails that clog public spaces and eventually become litter.

Keeping tenants safe

A primary focus of a rental housing inspection is to look for life safety code violations. Some of the basic requirements that all living spaces should have include hot water, heat, cooking facilities and sanitary facilities.

Fire safety is a major concern. Smoke alarms must be on the ceiling of every level of your home and both inside and outside bedrooms. Being able to escape in case of a fire is vital, so all bedrooms must have an outside window or exterior door for egress. Egress windows may not have bars unless they are breakaway bars approved by the Montgomery County Fire Marshall. In basement bedrooms, a code conforming window well may be required if the window is not large enough for a tenant to escape or a firefighter to enter.

Doors to the outside may not have keyed locks on the inside and must be openable with a thumb latch. There must be a safe, clear path to the outside door or to a required egress window. This means no trip hazards in a unit. Additionally, all stairways must have handrails. Nothing should be stored near a furnace or water heater. Electrical fixtures should be installed properly, outlets and switches should be properly covered (not cracked, arcing or sparking), and there should not be any extension cords or cable wires running through doorways or windows.

Although this list is not all inclusive, this covers the basic safety housing requirements to ensure everyone has a safe place to live.

ADMINISTRATIVE REGULATIONS – NOTICE OF FINAL ACTION

Notice of Final Action - Administrative Regulation establishing Maximum Fees Associated with Residential Rental Facilities, in accordance with Chapter 6.16.090 of the Takoma Park Code-Fees-General provision, permitted fees, optional fees, prohibited fees.

The January 2016 edition of the Takoma Park Newsletter included notice of the City's intention to adopt an administrative regulation establishing general provisions for the levying of fees as set forth in City Code Chapter 6.16.090-Fees and establishing maximum fees for optional services and amenities in residential rental facilities.

The notice of the City's intention to adopt an administrative regulation was published in accordance with the requirements of the “Administrative Regulations Ordinance” (Authority: Chapter 2.12, Administrative Regulations, of the Takoma Park Code) to allow citizens the opportunity to comment on the proposal. The notice stated that the proposed regulation was available for inspection at the City Clerk's Office. A limited number of public comments have been received by the City Clerk's Office since the notice appeared and have been considered. This notice is to inform residents that the final regulation will become effective on May 1, 2016.

EXHIBIT

Impressions

Exhibit can be viewed through May 2.

The artists of Impressions, the current exhibit at the Takoma Park Community Center, are interested in re-invention. Mike Guy, Helen Higgins and Mary Welch Higgins, Gladys Lipton and Emalie Lorens repurposed personal histories, their predecessors' work and outside disciplines in their artwork featured in this exhibit.

Featured Artists:

Mike Guy received formal training from Indiana University of Pennsylvania where he studied liberal arts under Fyuko Matsubara with a focus in silk painting and printmaking. Since then he has exhibited at galleries throughout the region. As the principal operator of Stops Rust Murals, he has organized artist groups to complete large scale mural jobs for local, small businesses, such as Three Stars Brewing and Hagerstown FIT Labs.

Helen Higgins was born and raised in Washington, D.C. where she received her B.A. and M.F.A. at the Catholic University of America. Her master's thesis, a garden sculpture group illustrating the life of St. Francis of Assisi, is a permanent installation in the university's art department. Helen married and raised nine children while continuing her artwork and exhibiting with D.C. groups and with galleries in North Carolina.

Mary Welch Higgins received a B.F.A. from the Corcoran School of Art in 1986 and an M.A. in visual information technologies from George Mason University. Her artistic education began many years earlier under the tutelage of her mother, Helen Schrider Higgins. She was exposed to art history at a young age on many family visits to the National Gallery of Art and the Museum of American Art as well as many trips to local D.C. galleries.

"Time Zones," a mixed-media abstract by Gladys Lipton

Dr. Gladys C. Lipton is a former teacher of French and Spanish, who headed New York City's foreign language program and similar programs in the Anne Arundel County public schools. She turned to artistic endeavors several years ago and studied with artist Aniko Macranczy. She has shown her work at numerous galleries, including the National Institutes of Health, Clinical Center; the Montpelier Arts Center and the Fox Hill Gallery.

Emalie Lorens was born in Minneapolis, Minnesota and moved to Washington, D.C. in 1955. She has lived in Takoma Park for eight years. She is an award winning artist, who has been painting for 70 years. Her work appears in many private and corporate collections, including the Skowhegan School and Georgetown University Hospital. ## Summer Youth Employment Program

The City of Takoma Park is proud to announce the third year of the Summer Youth Employment Program (SYEP). SYEP is an eight-week employment and job skill development program sponsored by the City of Takoma Park in partnership with local for-profit and non-profit organizations. This year the program will run from June 27 – Aug. 19. This program focuses on learn-and-earn opportunities, life skills, and work skills for teens and young adults and aims to increase teen and young adult employment and educational attainment. Participants (ages 16-21) in SYEP are screened and will receive soft-skills training by the City prior to beginning work.

SYEP provides a chance to gain real-world job experience and preparation for future careers and/or secondary education. We have witnessed the benefits that summer youth employment can bring to teens and young adults and their community. Participants were connected to the labor force; community members earned needed income, and in turn, supported local economies; and businesses and non-profit organizations gave back to their community by hiring a teen or young adult.

Research has shown that summer employment programs help teens and young adults build new and valuable skills. One study of summer jobs programs found that nearly 75 percent of participants improved their work readiness skills. Another study found that participants in a summer youth employment program were less likely than their peers to engage in risky behaviors, including drug and alcohol use and violence.

If you are a teen or young adult look-may be contacted to attend an interest workshop on Tuesday, April 26 from 7-9 p.m. at the TP Community Center.

FY 17 BUDGET

for staff of small municipalities in the region. Some additional revenue increases from State and County sources will allow City staff to be able to address Council priorities while continuing to provide municipal services at current levels.

Ludlow proposes to keep the tax rate at $0.585 per $100 valuation. This adds $846,272 to the expected property tax revenue for the coming fiscal year because of the recent increase in property assessments. On average, the owner of a property now assessed at $400,000 would pay the City of Takoma Park $13 more in property taxes next year than he/she did in the current year.

If the City wished to receive the same amount of property tax revenue next year as it expects to receive this year, the City's tax rate would need to be reduced to $0.5518 per $100 assessed valuation, the "constant yield tax rate."

A new neighborhood services division

Ludlow is proposing one new full-time position and an organizational change. The new position is that of an Environmental Code Enforcement Officer. Recent new laws passed by the City Council require a significant amount of outreach and enforcement for them to be effective. These include the Safe Grow pesticide restrictions, polystyrene ban, multifamily and business recycling and a possible plastic bag ban. City laws prohibiting overgrown vegetation and vines growing on trees have been on the books for years, but there has been little capacity for regular enforcement. The new position would coordinate education efforts and oversee enforcement of these laws.

The new position would be part of a new division in the Police Department called the Neighborhood Services Division. The Division would also include the City's two Property Code Enforcement Officers, currently in the Housing and Community Development Department, and the Police Department's one full- and one part-time Parking Enforcement Officers. The officers would be cross trained and conduct joint enforcement efforts when needed. They also become part of the community efforts of the Police Department to identify areas that need greater attention (that may have litter, graffiti, or vacant properties) and to continue community outreach with businesses and residents.

The Housing and Community Development Department would focus more on proactive affordable housing and economic development efforts.

The City Manager's proposed budget will be presented to the City Council on Wednesday, April 6. The Council will consider the details of the budget during special Monday night budget work sessions in April, with votes on May 11 and May 18 on the contents of the budget and the amount of the tax rate. Public Hearings on the budget are set for April 13 and April 27 at 7:30 pm.

The proposed FY17 budget is available at www.takomaparkmd.gov/budget.

County may raise property tax rate

Montgomery County Executive Isiah Leggett is proposing a tax rate increase for Montgomery County property owners, but notes in his proposed budget that the increase may not be needed if the Maryland General Assembly approves legislation to extend the time for the County to pay $50 million to the State of Maryland. The State lost the Supreme Court's "Wynne" case and must refund certain income tax payments paid by Maryland residents. Many of the affected residents live in Montgomery County and a large portion of the revenue went to the County. The State is refunding the money up front, but the County must pay it back in nine quarterly payments if no extension is authorized.

One line item in the County Executive's budget is welcome news to many Takoma Park residents: the County Executive is proposing to maintain operation of the Piney Branch Pool for at least the coming year, a change from his proposals in recent years to close the pool.

LIBRARY

Authors visit in April

By Karen MacPherson

We have a stellar line-up of authors and illustrators visiting the Library in April, from best-selling Origami Yoda author Tom Angleberger to two graphic novelists and a bilingual picture book creator. Politics & Prose bookstore will be selling copies of the authors' books at each event, but the programs are free, and no purchase is required to attend. All of the programs will take place in the Library's Children's Room.

The always-entertaining Angleberger is our first April author. On Wednesday, April 6, at 7:30 p.m., he'll talk about Stranded on Planet Strip Mall, the first in a heavily-illustrated new series for ages 7-10 featuring Rocket & Groot, two characters from Marvel's "Guardians of the Galaxy." In the first book, Rocket and Groot crash-land onto a planet composed entirely of strip malls and must battle hungry toilets, murderous robots, and washing machines with chainsaw arms to survive. In its review, School Library Journal called the book "a slapstick romp."

ful new book, Birdsong, on Monday, April 11 at 7 p.m. In Birdsong, a wordless book for ages 5-8, Sturm pays homage to the Japanese art of "kamishibai" in which storytellers tell a tale using a series of illustrated boards that are placed, one after the other, in a specially-made miniature stage. Each two-page spread in Sturm's book offers an illustration on the right-hand side and a decorated but otherwise blank page on the left-hand side for young readers to supply their own dialogue for the story. Kirkus called Birdsong an "episode rich in drama, humor, pathos, and thematic depth."

On Tuesday, April 19 at 7 p.m., fans of the I Spy and Where's Waldo? books will get a treat as author/illustrator Henry Cole unveils his new picture book, Spot, the Cat. Done primarily in black-and-white, Cole's book tells the story of a cat named Spot who heads out to see the world, and his young owner who searches frantically for him. Cole invites the reader to try to find Spot and his owner on each of the two-page spreads, which are filled with details presented in a cross-hatched style. In a starred review, Booklist noted that "even after readers have found Spot, there are plenty of other stories to see in these pages."

On the next evening, Thursday, April 7 at 7 p.m., author/illustrator Ruth Chan will present her debut picture book, Where's the Party? Aimed at ages 3-6, Chan's book tells the story of Georgie the Cat who wants to have a party but can't find anyone who will come. But there's a happy surprise for Georgie at the book's conclusion. Publishers Weekly noted that Chan's ink-and-watercolor illustrations "are full of playful details to enjoy." As a special surprise, and in honor of the book's theme, we'll get to enjoy cake and lemonade courtesy of Chan's publisher.

Graphic novelist James Sturm will spotlight his beautifully-illustrated, thought-

We'll have a special "Dia" (Dia de los Ninos/ Dia de los Libros, Children's Day/ Book Day) on Sunday, April 24 at 3 p.m. when local author/illustrator Lulu Delacre will talk about her new bilingual (Spanish/English) book, Olinguito de la A a Z/Olinguito From A to Z. ## Favorite poem evening: A Takoma Park tradition

By Ellen Robbins

The "Favorite Poem Evening," sponsored jointly by the Takoma Park Maryland Library and the Friends of the Library, is now in its 19th year. Last year's event drew a record number of readers and poetry enthusiasts. This year's celebration of poems will be held in the library on Tuesday April 26 at 7:30 p.m.

If you would like to participate, choose a poem you have read and admired by a published poet other than you or your friends. Poems written in languages other than English are welcome if they are accompanied by an English translation. There are plenty of ideas for possible choices in the library's poetry collections.

Send the name and author of the poem you have chosen and your own name and generic occupation for inclusion in a printed program to Ellen Robbins at the Takoma Park Maryland Library or by e-mail to ellenr@takomaparkmd.gov. The deadline for submission is Thursday, April 21.

Originally conceived as a national event by poet laureate Robert Pinsky, the Favorite Poem Evening in Takoma Park has been a lovely, warm and community building event for the past 18 years. It was based on the idea that poetry has meaning to everyone, and everyone has a "favorite poem" at some point in their lives and would enjoy the opportunity to share it. Pinsky founded the Favorite Poem Project shortly after his appointment as the 39th Poet Laureate of the United States in 1997.

During the one-year call for submissions, 18,000 Americans wrote to the project volunteering to share their favorite poems – Americans from ages from 5 to 97, from every state, representing a range of backgrounds and kinds of occupations. During that first year, the Library had its own favorite poem event in conjunction with the English Department at Washington Adventist University. And we have carried on the tradition ever since.

Join us on the 26th to read or simply enjoy hearing the readings by others. There will be a reception afterwards with refreshments provided by the Friends of the Library.

Ludlow shares highlights from her first year as City Manager

“My nicest memories come from the supportive words I heard from community members as I took on the new role as City Manager,” says Suzanne Ludlow of her first year on the job. “It made the transition to the position easier for me.”

In this interview, Ludlow shares highlights from her first year in her new position: what’s been accomplished, what lies ahead for the City, and what she is most looking forward to as she begins her second year on the job.

TP News: What has surprised you the most in the past year?

Ludlow: I’ve been most pleasantly surprised by the enthusiasm of the Council to jump in and help on City efforts. This is the most active Council I’ve worked with, both on their own constituent service matters and on setting priorities as a group and working on them. In addition, they have pitched in on cleanup efforts during the big snow storm, they’ve come to staff events, and they want to be asked to help on lobbying efforts and in making connections to other jurisdictions and agencies. It’s really great—it’s a team effort.

TP News: What were your biggest challenges as you began your new role last year?

Ludlow: My biggest challenge was to hire an excellent Deputy City Manager to help share the work load. It helped that many talented people wanted to work for the City of Takoma Park, so we had great applicants from which to choose. Jason Damweber has been on the job eight months. He jumped in with both feet and has made my job so much easier. He has already made significant improvements to many of our technology and communications systems, and he is building strong relationships with Councilmembers, staff and residents.

My second biggest challenge was dealing with the brief stay of the person we hired as a Finance Director when Yovonda Brooks retired. Fortunately, our Budget Specialist Susan Cheung has stepped into the director role and will perform well in that key position. This experience reinforces the need for succession planning in all City departments. We need to ensure that the excellent and critical work we do will continue when planned or unplanned vacancies occur.

TP News: What was your greatest opportunity, and how have you been able to capitalize upon it?

Ludlow: My greatest opportunity was the big snow storm in late January. With the City’s new website and ability to do blog posts, I was able to give frequent updates before and during the storm. Residents want to know what’s happening during an emergency event, and we were able to get that information out.

More than that, I was able to tell the stories of our public works staff and police officers as they rose to the challenges they faced. It’s nice to be able to show that City staff is made up of real people who really care about Takoma Park. In getting the word out in this way, Councilmembers and residents found it easier to share information with each other and then back to me, so problem areas could be promptly addressed.

Now we have shown to ourselves that this higher, and more personal, level of communication is well-received and helps show what is special about Takoma Park. News blogs from individual Councilmembers and the Mayor on behalf of the whole Council, and from key staff and the City Manager on behalf of the City staff, will go out regularly to keep people informed about activities in the City. And they will continue to be used most effectively in times of emergency. I’m so glad it worked well. It’s a nice new part of the Takoma Park experience.

TP News: Of what accomplishments are you most proud?

Ludlow: It seems too early to talk about accomplishments. A lot of improvements have been made over the past year, but it feels more like most things are a work-in-progress. The new website is so much better than the old one, and I love the Project Initiatives page on the website and the My TkPk app. I was really pleased with staff’s work in organizing the first Community Conversation on affordable housing, and there are many internal system improvements that have been made that the public can’t see but that help staff do their work well. If there is one improvement of which I’m proud, it is that staff members see the importance of communication as a key part of our work. There’s more to be done here as well, but we have advanced so much in this area that I feel really good about it.

TP News: What kinds of “challenges” do you anticipate during the remainder of this year?

Ludlow: We have huge projects and initiatives in the works: Takoma Junction, the look of the renovated library, improvements to the intersection of Ethan Allen and New Hampshire Avenues, economic development initiatives along New Hampshire Avenue, how to serve young people in the community that most need a leg up, and many more. It will take a lot to balance the work load and accomplish the goals the Council has set out in its excellent priorities document.

TP News: What are you most looking forward to as you begin your second year as City Manager?

Ludlow: A vacation! In May after the budget is passed, my husband and I will take a few days to help our son move to Florida for a summer job, and I hope to take some time off with my husband in August.

books.” Delacre’s event will end with a craft related to her book.

Graphic novelist Kevin McCloskey rounds out our April line-up when he talks about his new science comic book for beginning readers, The Real Poop on Pigeons, on Thursday, April 29 at 7 p.m. Aimed at readers ages 4-8, McCloskey’s book combines information about pigeons with a comic book illustrations and a humorous writing style. In its review, Kirkus called the book “another feather in McCloskey’s cap.”

Finally, mark your calendars for our incredible celebration of Children’s Book Week, May 2-8. We’ll kick it off with award-winning picture book author Mac Barnett on Monday, May 2 at 7 p.m., who will talk about his new book, Rules of the House. Then on Friday, May 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the Takoma Park Community Center auditorium, author and humorist Dave Barry will regale everyone with his latest kids’ book, The Worst Night Ever. We’ll conclude the week on Saturday, May 7 at 3 p.m. when Caldecott Honor picture book creator Molly Idle spotlights her newest Flora book, Flora and the Peacocks.

Drop everything and read event on April 12

By Karen MacPherson

Kids and adults – mark your calendars to come Drop Everything and Read at the Library on Tuesday, April 12 from 7-8:30 p.m. We’re celebrating the 100th birthday of Beverly Cleary, beloved creator of the Ramona, Henry Huggins, and Mouse on a Motorcycle books. There will be snacks – including a birthday cake – and drinks courtesy of the Friends of the Takoma Park Maryland Library.

Here’s the idea. Our event will provide time and space for folks of all ages to focus on reading, something that can be difficult in our often too-busy world. Everyone is invited to come and enjoy silently reading his or her own book (or in the cases of pre-readers, parents are welcome to quietly read aloud to their children), have some cake and snacks and honor one of the best authors for children of our time.

April 12, Cleary’s actual birthday, was designated several years ago as national Drop Everything and Read Day, but this year is especially important because it’s her 100th birthday.

Cleary began her career as a children’s librarian, but started to write after young patrons asked her to recommend books for “kids like us,” and she found few possibilities. Her first book, Henry Huggins, was published in 1950, but it was the books about the irrepressible Ramona Quimby that really rocketed Cleary to fame in the children’s book world. She won the 1984 Newbery Medal for her stand-alone novel, Dear Mr. Henshaw as well as two Newbery Honors, one in 1978 for Ramona and Her Father and another in 1982 for Ramona Quimby, Age 8.

Cleary published her final book, Ramona’s World, in 1999. Her books are regarded as trailblazers in the realm of realistic fiction for children. Critic Peter Sieruta noted, “For many, the names of Beverly Cleary’s best-known characters read like a list of very special friends.” According to Sieruta, Cleary “remains one of those rare authors who are both critically acclaimed and immensely popular with young readers.”

Cleary now lives in California, but she lived for many years in Portland, Oregon, and that’s where a number of her books take place. In fact, Klickitat Street, where Ramona, Henry Huggins and their families live, is a real Portland street. The nearby Grant Park has a Beverly Cleary Sculpture Garden where there are sculptures of her characters.

So please help us celebrate the 100th birthday of a wonderful children’s author by joining us on April 12 to Drop Everything and Read!

Safety message: It's spring clean-up time

Let's this be the time to rid your home of potential fire hazards. Check your basement, attic, closets and other storage areas and remove old newspapers, paints, flammable liquids, thinners, solvents, oily clothes, old wrapping paper, forgotten games and other rubbish that should be discarded. Don't give fire a place to start!

County Fire Chief awards unit citation

On Nov. 8, 2015, several units from Montgomery County responded to Prince Georges County to assist with a massive vehicle collision. Several victims had life-threatening injuries and some were trapped in the vehicle. Ambulance 702 responded from Takoma Park, staffed by EMS Master Jorge Alfaro, MCFRS FF Nick Chrissides and FRC Candance Washington. A job was well done by all. Lives were saved!

Takoma Park student safety: School emergency plans and what you can do

Lock down, evacuate, shelter: Remember these words and what they mean. They are the basic strategies the Montgomery County Public Schools (MCPS)* use for ensuring the safety of students in Takoma Park in case of emergencies, such as a shooter, fire or severe weather.

Lock down is used in case of imminent danger, such as an active shooter. Public address system announcements tell everyone it's a lock-down situation: "Secure yourself." Doors are locked; windows are covered.

Evacuate is used in cases of fire, bomb threats and gas leaks. Getting out of the building safely and quickly is the objective. Again, announcements tell everyone to leave now, and practice drills should make the exit path and process familiar. Montgomery County holds 10 fire drills at each school annually, two in the first 30 days and one each 30 days thereafter. Fifty percent of the drills are not announced in advance. Since the August 2011 earthquake, there are also earthquake practice drills.

Schools can become shelters in cases of public safety needs, such as severe weather, hazardous spills outside or area robbery. In those cases all students and staff are brought inside to the safety of the school.

As mandated by the state of Maryland, there are six practice drills each school year dealing with lock-downs, evacuation and sheltering. Each school has a plan tailored to its layout and location, which is updated each summer.

\ If the student is not in a MCPS, contact the school ASAP to get specific information about their procedures and to give them your contact information.*

What you can do:

- Sign up for Takoma Park Alerts, so you are notified of any school related emergency: www.takomaparkmd.gov/alert
- Each school has a specific plan, which includes where to pick up the student, onsite or off-site. Find out about yours.
- For students with disabilities, families should discuss options and processes directly with the school.
- Make sure the school has your latest contact information.
- Establish a parent-child re-unification

HOUSING MAILBOX

By Moses A. Wilds Jr.
Landlord-Tenant Mediation Specialist

A tenant whose one year lease ends in July contacted the Mailbox and wants to know if her lease automatically becomes month-to-month at the end of the current lease term?

This is a question that a number of tenants and landlords contact us about. The short answer is, "No, your lease does not automatically become a month-to-month lease at the end of the first year." Section 6.16.170 of the Takoma Park Landlord-tenant Law indicates that your landlord is required to offer you the opportunity to renew your lease in writing for an additional year at least two months prior to the end of the initial one year term unless:

- You have given the landlord a notice of your intent to vacate; or
- The landlord has given you a one month (for cause) or two month (no cause) notice to vacate; or
- The landlord has given you a written statement at least two months prior to the expiration of the initial lease detailing the landlord's reasonable cause for not renewing the lease or for offering a new lease term of less than one year.

Reasonable cause situations include landlord is experiencing hardship, the landlord is selling the rental facility within a year, the landlord or a family member intends to occupy the rental unit, or substantial rehabilitation is planned for the rental unit or rental facility that cannot be accomplished while the facility/unit is occupied. Any displaced tenant would have the right to lease the rental unit when the rehabilitation is completed.

If your landlord fails to offer you a one-year renewal of the initial lease in writing two months prior to the end of the first year term, you may extend the term for an additional one year from the end of the initial term by providing written notice to your landlord. Your written notice must be provided to your landlord within two months of the expiration of the initial lease term.

After the second year, however, your lease does become a month-to-month lease if neither you nor your landlord take action to officially renew it at the end of the second year.

Tenants and landlords with questions regarding the City's Landlord-Tenant and COLTA Laws can contact me at 301-891-7215 or mosesw@takomaparkmd.gov.

Feedback and fellowship for filmmakers

By Rick Henry

"It starts with a story," says the tagline on a brochure for Docs in Progress (DIP), one of the 2016 City of Takoma Park Community Grant recipients.

And while it's true that a good story is at the heart of every good documentary, it's also true that a good story is not enough. The path from good story to finished product is a long, arduous journey for filmmakers whether they are amateurs or professionals. It is also often a solitary one, so feedback along that journey can be invaluable.

So it was in 2004 that two DC-area documentary filmmakers, Adele Schmidt and Erica Ginsberg, decided over dinner that it would be great if there were a space where local filmmakers could get and give feedback on each other's documentary works-in-progress. They grabbed a pen and a napkin, jotted down their idea and the seeds of Docs in Progress (including its name) were born.

"When we first started we were just a little club for filmmakers," said Ginsberg, the organization's executive director. "We soon realized that what we were doing was resonating, there were a lot of people who liked documentaries and were interested in making them, and we needed to branch out to serve that community."

From those beginnings, the organization quickly morphed into the broader organization it is today, one that offers training and professional development, public programs and screenings, consulting services and advice, sponsorship, networking and summer camps. Equally as important as the variety of services is the fact that they serve everyone who is interested, whether rank amateur or professional, said Ginsberg:

"On one side are people who have other careers and decide they want to try documentary filmmaking, but may not know how to use and old the camera properly. On the other are the professionals who need help with fundraising, distribution and those types of things."

Kathryn Pasternak is an example of the latter. On a recent Wednesday night at the Takoma Community Center, Pasternak was showing her film Doeville at a screening sponsored by DIP and We are Takoma. Pasternak, a full-time independent media producer who spent 16 years at National Geographic Television, knows her way around a camera and a production studio. But she says Docs in Progress has been a critical resource for her in all phases of developing and distributing the movie, her first independent, feature-length documentary.

"I have taken a lot of classes at DIP, but the first thing I took was a crowdfunding seminar, which I really needed for this film," she said. She obviously took what she learned to heart as she raised more than $30,000 for the film through a crowdfunding campaign she launched in 2013.

Education, such as the crowdfunding seminar Pasternak took, is a fundamental component of DIP. Ellen Kessel, Takoma Park Poet Laureate, and de facto Third Thursday Poetry emcee, Merrill Leffler in his back yard

Five Questions for Merrill Leffler, Takoma Park Poet Laureate

Takoma Park Poet Laureate Merrill Leffler, his wife Ann Slayton and their two young sons moved to Takoma Park in March 1977 and rented part of a house on Holstein Street near Columbia College (now Washington Adventist University). They bought their home on 15 Sherman Ave. in October 1979 and have lived here since.

When the family first moved to Takoma Park, Leffler was an assistant professor of English at the U.S. Naval Academy. He left full-time teaching in the early 1980s to become a science writer for the University of Maryland Sea Grant Program, focusing on Chesapeake Bay research and policy issues. At the same time, he began publishing literary books under the Dryad Press imprint (www.dryadpress.com).

Leffler was named Takoma Park Poet Laureate in 2011. He is the author of three books of poems: Mark the Music (2012), Take Hold (1997), and Partly Pandemonium, Partly Love (1984). Some of his most memorable moments as the City's poet laureate have been speaking at Takoma Park's unveiling of the Sam Abbott memorial bronze at the Community Center and composing a poem for that occasion, representing Takoma Park at a number of literary events during the last several years, including In the Company of Laureates at George Mason University; emceeing the outdoor reading each year of poems from Spring for Poetry in Takoma Park at the Sunday Market and introducing poets at the city's on-going Third Thursday Poetry Reading series.

In honor of National Poetry Month, Merrill is featured in the second of our series of "quick-question" interviews.

Kessel says most of the classes are held on weeknights and weekends to serve working professionals, who may be transitioning into documentary filmmaking or pursuing it as a hobby or part-time career.

Pasternak says that beyond the classes, she also benefitted from DIP's community feedback when she workshopped the film in 2014: "I got exactly the feedback I needed at the time I needed it to be able to bring the film home," she said. "It's a marvelous community."

Two examples of that community are Richard Hall and his wife Simone Fary. The pair, both filmmakers and producers who attended the Doeville screening became affiliated with DIP when they showed one of their films at a DIP event.

"We were helped enormously," said Hall. So much so that they decided to give back to the organization and the community by conducting roundtable support groups that allow filmmakers to receive critiques and feedback on their projects. ## NATURAL TAKOMA

What's a wildlife friendly yard and garden, and why would you try to have one?

By Kit Gage

Editor's note: Since Takoma Park's founding in 1883, residents have valued its sylvan beauty, parks and abundant wildlife. This new column, Natural Takoma, made its debut in the February issue and will be published periodically. It will explore the wide range of the City's natural treasures and share information and opportunities to celebrate and protect them. Natural Takoma is a collaborative effort involving the Friends of Sligo Creek, Historic Takoma, the Takoma Horticultural Club, the Takoma Park Committee on the Environment and the Takoma Park Tree Commission.

What is a wildlife friendly garden?

A wildlife garden is a planted area designed to support, feed, water and provide shelter to an array of animals, birds, insects or reptiles, which are trying to live in your area. The emphasis typically is on native species, which will most readily and reliably fulfill those needs. Here are some steps you take to develop a wildlife friendly garden:

- Buy, trade or get splittings of native plants (among others), species that are still or would have been found in this general area. Planting natives provides a more reliably good food source for birds and bugs and other animals that live here, so it will help support great varieties of animal life as well as plant life.
- Try to include plants that have berries, nuts, and seeds that are not sterile as are many cultivars in the marketplace. These are food in the summer but even into the winter.

- Provide other kinds of habitat for birds, squirrels and foxes, such as
  - water sources year round – ponds in the unfrozen months, and heated bird baths in the winter
  - tree shelter, including dead trees where possible, to support birds that eat bugs and for their nests and nest holes. If you have to take down a dead tree, try to leave a "snag," the main trunk of the tree
  - low shelter, including where possible, shrubs or low cover for birds and other animals

Why make the effort?

You simulate and expand on existing wild areas, which have been vastly reduced in size because of development especially down county. This expansion is critical to provide pathways for wildlife between other native-rich and varied biomes.

You'll see lots of wildlife even out of the comfort of your home, which can be a great experience for you, but also for children to get to understand how nature works and that they exist in a larger environment.

The leaves of native plants (but not generally non-native plants) provide food for and so attract native caterpillars of moths and butterflies, which in turn serve as food for many bird species, especially during nesting season when the adults need soft food (rather than hard seeds) for their young.

TKPK5K keeping Takoma Park safe and fit

In the summer of 2008, Safe Routes to School invited five area schools to participate in organizing a 5K run in Takoma Park. No promises were made aside from the commitment to produce a well-organized, inclusive event around the theme of pedestrian safety. Nine months later, on the rainy morning of the first Takoma Park 5K Challenge, now widely known as the TKPK5K, the weather did not dampen the spirits of the 350 brave souls who ran together to raise funds for pedestrian and bike safety, health and fitness at our area schools. Each year since then, the TKPK5K has raised between $1,400 and $5,000 for each of the PTAs at Takoma Park ES, Rolling Terrace ES, Piney Branch ES, East Silver Spring ES and Takoma Park MS.

Runners in the four events have grown from the original 350 to more than 1,300 in 2015. Most of the participants are Takoma Park or Silver Spring residents. Many families run together; many runners come back year after year. Some start with the .25 mile; some very young runners even start with the 5K. Some run while holding hands with a parent. Race organizers are expecting close to 1,400 registrants this year.

The Race Committee is made up of representatives from the schools, each taking a role in the planning process. Some committee members have been on board since the beginning. Many of their children have moved up through the ranks of our schools, and they keep coming back. In addition to their role on the committee, these parents assist with organizing a Run Club as part of PTA before or after school activities. Run Clubs range in size from 15 to 100 students, who gather one or two afternoons a week for several weeks to train leading up to the race.

Each year the committee aims to improve the race in some way. This year the start line has been moved down Maple toward Grant Avenue to allow for a larger starting corral. An option to sign up as a team has also been added. One team, Triangle Park Tribe, has 25 members already. And with a new committee member dedicated to "greening" the race, we are examining all aspects of race management with an eye toward sustainability.

Many local businesses sponsor the race. This year's platinum sponsors are Lusid Media, Finn Family Group and Takoma Bicycle.

The TKPK5K will be held on Sunday, May 1. Events begin at 8:00 a.m.

Interested runners or walkers can find additional information, a full list of race sponsors and a link to the online sign up by visiting TKPK5K.com.

For early bird pricing and a guaranteed t-shirt in your size, register before April 18.

Packet pick up will be held at the TP Community Center, 7500 Maple Ave. on Saturday, April 29, from 2 – 6 p.m.

City Council challenges Montgomery College facilities master plan

In a March 1 letter to Maryland Higher Education Commission Chair (MHEC) Anwer Hasan, the Takoma Park City Council urged the commission to postpone consideration of the 2013-2023 Montgomery College Facilities Master Plan “until the required local stakeholder and municipal government consultation takes place, and the Plan is revised as appropriate based on that consultation.”

Citing a 2002 agreement between the college, the City, Montgomery County and Historic Takoma that requires the college to “consult with the City... and the local community when making any major or substantial changes or alterations to the existing structures designated” (as outlined in the document), the Council stated that this legal obligation had not been fulfilled and expressed concern that “there was never an intent to undertake true community consultation.”

A member of the Takoma Park City Council presented testimony at the Montgomery College Board Meeting on February 1 requesting that the Board postpone its vote on the Master Plan, but the Board approved the Plan without dissent, and it was made public two days later.

Even so, the letter outlined the Council’s major concerns with this plan moving forward as approved by the Board:

- The college plans to build exclusively within the residential neighborhood portion of the Takoma Park-

Silver Spring campus.

- In June the college will be closing its day care facility in the North Takoma neighborhood, which has provided an important service for college employees, students and residents.
- The Plan calls for replacing most of the major College buildings currently located in the residential area with larger structures in the same area, which will cause construction related disturbances for many years and ultimately threaten the integrity of the residential areas.

It concluded by urging “MHEC to reject the Montgomery College Facilities Master Plan (at least as it applies to the Takoma Park-Silver Spring campus), and to require the College to undertake a genuine community consultation process – as required under the 2002 Agreement – before the Plan is considered.”

PLASTIC BAG BAN

compliance. However, based on Braithwaite’s reading of the proposed ordinance, the farmers market would be exempt, which would allow for plastic bags to be used to carry home produce, baked goods, meats and so on. (For a list of exceptions, reference section B of the ordinance, which can be found on the City’s website in the agenda materials for the Council’s Feb. 24 meeting.)

Still local farmers are concerned about how the ban would impact their business. As their local representative, Laura Barclay, executive director of the Old Takoma Business Association, has compiled and provided comments to the City Council on their behalf: “The market is strongly opposed to the market being included in a City-wide plastic bag ban. If the ban is passed, the market requests an exemption as has been made for farmers markets in other municipalities.”

Further, the farmers noted that “the market continues to look for new ways to innovate and promote itself and wants to protect itself from any changes that might create a competitive disadvantage, like a plastic bag ban.”

Anyone interested in offering comments should attend the public hearing and sign up to speak. Written comments may be submitted to the City Clerk, 7500 Maple Ave., Takoma Park, MD 20912 or by email to clerk@takomaparkmd.gov.

STUDENT SAFETY

plan after an emergency. Do you know and have you taken care of details such as:

- What kind of identification is needed? Who is legally permitted to pick up the student?
- Whether the school knows if additional persons have your permission to pick up the student, and who are they? What kind of identification does he/she need?

Finally, in communities where residents speak multiple languages, MCPS communicates by:

- using the Connect-Ed notification system that usually comes from the principal in more than one language. This is the format where the principal will record a message and send it to the phone number on the student’s information form. Make sure school has the correct number.
- having some parents to help get the message out by translating the message or by using the MCPS translation service

Many thanks to Michael D. Harting, Cluster Security Coordinator, MCPS for providing this information.

How did you get the idea for the “Spring for Poetry” posters?

My wife Ann and I were on a hike in a woods behind the high school in Hardwick, Vermont where typewritten poems were hung on posts. What a great idea for Takoma Park, we thought!

Graphic artist Michele Morgan, a friend and neighbor, loved the idea of an urban poetry walk, but instead of using fine typography as we originally planned, she designed a colorful poster of a Robert Frost poem. Her poster design led to our proposing a collaboration with Montgomery College’s School of Art and Design for design students to produce the posters.

The process includes our selecting new poems each year, presenting them to the students, who then submit their draft designs to Michele and me. We have the posters laminated and install them on poles that the city’s Public Works Department has helped in putting up. Clair Garman, who also lives on Sherman Avenue, has made all the frames. Some thirty posters appear each year along Carroll Avenue, in city parks and at the library and community center. The Friends of the Takoma Park Maryland Library sponsor the project and underwrite the costs.

Bring relief, joy and energy to your mind, body and spirit

Though we had been exposed to Qi Gong for years, it was 12 years ago when I was suffering from a nasty case of tendonitis that I began to study Qi Gong seriously. As Joann saw the benefits in me, she joined me in developing our daily practice. We have learned many forms in this time, relishing in the calm and energy that the practice of Qi Gong delivers.

When Master Li offered a teacher training program, our practice and learning accelerated. We became certified teachers and continue to reap the rewards of daily practice. We began teaching our own classes three years ago. We are happy to help others embrace Qi Gong for the first time and to support many in deepening their study and practice.

This spring, beginning on Tuesday April 5 at 7 p.m., we will teach the Lang

Ya Daoist 12 Postures Qi Gong for the first time. The 12 Postures stimulate and nourish all of our meridians. This series of simple exercises builds flexibility, core strength and alignment as well as preventing stiffness and helping to relieve back/neck pain. If your vital life energy has been blocked by illness, injury or just “winter blues,” then this class is you for you. Learning these standing and seated movements will bring relief, joy and energy to your mind, body and spirit. The energy available when a group practices Qi Gong goes beyond what individuals generate on their own. Be good to yourself; learn how to take better care of your total body and mind. Join us.

— Joann Malone and Patrick Smith, instructors
